gan, occupying the old Berry we bespeak for them a pleasant stay in our midst.

Mr. Jake Keller, son of John Keller, returned from his visit to the Hoosier State, Tuesday last, minus the bride. We cannot account for this, only on the theory that Jake spent too much time with Jack Henery, at Logansport, or the Hoosier girls are great flirts. The contemplated "bell-ing" is postponed.
At a regular meeting of the Min-

THE NEWS.
We desire to express our thanks to the members of the Fire Company and the many citizens who worked so faithfully in our behalf during the fire Thanksgiving morning.
J. ROCHSTER and Sons.
A Word to the Good and Great.
The elections are over. The crops are gathered. The politician accepts the results, and the people are pleased with the abundance in granary and smoke house. Peace obtains in public affairs, and prosperity exists among the people.
During the strife of politics, and pending the harvest of crops, the Sentinel has not been urgent in its claims for past dues.
We have given to our patrons the privilege to "pay when you please."
We hope it will please them, if they owe a year or more, to pay now.
Our rents, our insurance, our taxes and a paper bill are due, and must be paid.
We have given the patrons of the Sentinel a paper that cost not less than fifty dollars a week.
How much have you, good and generous reader, contributed to meet this expense?
There is more than a thousand dollars due us on subscription from the patrons of the paper in Logan. The half of that sum now, will put us, in the language of uncle Harvey Allen, "three jumps ahead of the hounds."
Now is the time to pay up.
The Sheridan Quilt.
The Tom Talbot G. A. R. Post of Somerset, noted for the liberality to comrades needing relief, have a plan for reimbursing their treasury, which is original and will certainly prove popular. We copy from a current issue of the Somerset press:
AN APPEAL TO THE PUBLIC.
Tom Talbot Post No. 143, Somerset, O., in order to reimburse their treasury called upon the Relief Corps, who with Mrs. Sheridan conceived the idea of picnicking a large and elegant silk quilt as a donation to our Relief Corps.
In this enterprise they are aided with heart and hand by the aged mother of gallant Phil Sheridan who furnishes one square made by her own hand (which will probably be the last piece of fine-needlework wrought by the hand of this venerable old lady). A photo of the General, cabinet size, on white satin, will adorn the center and will be known as the Sheridan Silk Quilt. Tickets for the drawing 50 cents. We hope all members will take an interest in this historic piece of work and aid in furnishing purchases with tickets. For information apply to D. C. Ream, Comdr. or Mr. B. C. Greiner, Pres.
We hope to see our Logan post take chances, and win the quilt.
We might utilize it for the same good purpose as proposed by our Somerset comrades, and warm many a heart that may be chilly, and which only kindly charity can temper to comforts of declining years.
Muldoon's Picnic last Tuesday evening, was not largely attended, but it was very fun, and if the Picnic come again it will have a house full. Muldoon and Mulcahy are about all that's of the show, but they are enough in themselves for a joy night's entertainment. The reference to the contrivance of a man from county Down upon Eli West, and his gang of Far Down, and the proposition to sing "Oropheus Lie Down," got away with Green and the whole Corkoncrowd. The show was clean from much of the stale stuff of the common clown, and the wit was fresh and pertinent. We hope Gov.
Muldoon will visit us again. We will have a full house for his Picnic.
MARRIED.—On the 27th ult., at the residence of the Rev. J.
N. Ricketts, Mr. Lemuel Conrad to Miss Cora Helver, both of Hocking county.
On the 26th ult., at the residence of the groom's father, in Green township, by Chas. Nunemaker, J. P., Mr. Robert S.
Gues to Miss Matilda Gues, both of Hocking county.
On the 27th ult., by E. G. Martin, J. P., Mr. George Conkle to Miss Jennie A. Nimon, all of Washington twp., this county.
Married.—Mr. Albert Poffing and Miss Manda Wolty were married on Saturday evening of last week, at the residence of Mr.
Christian Welty, by Rev. Good.
On last Sunday, Rev. Good married Mr. Charley Poling to Miss Alice Wedd.
Married, on the 24th, inst., by Rev. J. F. Williams at the residence of the bride's father, Mr.
Frederick R. Keller and Miss Larina M. Zeller, all of Hocking county, O.
Frank Merrick, of Columbus, was the city last week and bought a dog. There is not much in this, but issues as complicated as any relating to the affairs of the Syndicate are involved in it. He offered Jess Cline $5 for the dog, but Cline refused to sell the dog at any price to be taken from "own," and bought the Chinese mandarin, and sold him to Merrick for $5. Hearing of this, Cline gave boy a quon, and stole the dog, which he did and fled.
He is now frisking about the lively stable and living off the bounty of the Fleming House. The case has gone before the Solvance, and fuller details may be soon given the public.

ANNUAL MEETING
Of the Southeastern Ohio
Teachers' Associ- ation.
The Southeastern Ohio Teachers' Association began the session of their annual meeting at the Presbyterian church Friday afternoon, with Superintendent Davis, of Middletown, in the chair.
Despite the unfavorable weather the attendance was full.
At 2:00 o'clock the meeting was called, and after an Organ Voluntary by Mrs. C. E. Bowen, prayer was offered by Rev. D. H. Moore.
THE ADDRESS OF WELCOME. was delivered by Hon. S. H. Bright who said: "Your committee have called me to the privilege and pleasure of giving you a welcome.
On behalf of the citizens of Logan I welcome you to our village, our homes, and our hospitality. We welcome you because you represent the welfare of our country, in which we are intensely interested. The public schools are the safeguards of our Republic, the protection of the sanctity of our homes. A high moral character is demanded of the teacher, for moral are a part of true education. Education becomes a word among immoral persons to sever sacred ties, to cut down and destroy. The schools are near and dear to our homes, our hearts, and our welfare.
As representing all this good you are welcome.
The welfare of your cause, the success of your endeavors, is our welfare. I am glad to know that the territory of this Association includes several colleges—a commitment to us. Once again I bid you welcome.
THE RESPONSE.
Was made by Prof. Eli Dunkle, of Athens. In effect he said:
On behalf of the Association, I thank you for your cordial welcome.
I have formerly partaken of the generous hospitality of the people of Logan. Your people are wide awake to educational interests, as the excellence of your schools testifies. The interest of the patrons, and public generosity is necessary to the advancement of the school.
Teachers should cultivate the acquaintance of patrons, and patrons of teachers. The opinions of parents has a great influence on the child's mind.
Our purpose in coming together at these meetings is the improvement and progress in the methods of our profession. The school is so related to the public that our progress in your progress. These meetings show advancement. The success of the schools depends on the teachers knowing and fully understanding the great principles that underlie educational work. We meet to study and teach these things.
The poet has said:
"Learn to labor, and wait," but we can not afford to wait.
We must overcome the legiti-mate indifference that exists, and secure the enactment of such laws, as will advance the system of our public schools. Again I thank you for your welcome.
THE INAUGURAL ADDRESS.
Was delivered by President-elect Supt. F. S. Coultrick, of Nelsonville.
He thanked the Association for the honor conferred upon him.
Last year he had heard a remark by some one on the way home from the Association's meeting at Middletown, to the effect that the ideas advanced at these meetings were very good theories, perhaps, but they were not practical. By clear and concise reasoning the speaker showed the falsity of this statement; and summing up the benefits of the meetings, he said that while we might not be able to just put our finger on one thing that would benefit us, yet, even I got this at the meeting, and say that it was a blessed idea that was a latent force, which would manifest itself in the hour of need.
After speaking of the benefits of visiting and studying other's methods, the speaker, in a comparison of the Association to a Telephone Exchange, showed the great advantages and abundant assistance to be had in this great Educational Exchange.
It was further said that as sight and light were both necessary to seeing, so the teacher's understanding of the development of the mind of a child and the knowledge of the right application to the mind for its development were necessary components of the teacher's success.
Teaching is not cramming the mind with facts, but developing the mind by directing it in study, and thus enabling it to learn for itself.
It is a great but rare achievement to be able to sift out the richest thought from a great mass of reading. We should train our children to do this.
Failure to instruct children grows out of our not understanding them.
Children differ in intellectual endowments. A child may be dull in one direction and very bright in another. The surroundings of a child's home influence its knowledge and furnish data for the teacher.
Education must proceed from the known to the unknown. Teachers must know just what knowledge the child has, before he begins to teach that child. This was the secret of the success of Socrates and Pestalozzi.

It is not only the duty of a teacher to instruct and watch the developments of the mind, but it is a great privilege. A whole-souled development of the school. Like teacher, like pupil.
The true work of the pupil is to make practical the minds of the pupil. Don't bend the intellect from its natural tendency. Don't bias natural inclination. The success of teaching demands a natural teacher. The work of a teacher is grand to contemplate; only less grand than that of the Greater Teacher, when he said, "Suffer little children to come unto Me." Low salaries are detrimental to the welfare of the school.
Public opinion fixes the standard of teachers in a community.
The great necessity of our schools is competent teachers.
Here the speaker went into a discussion of the ways and means to secure better schools; the teachers' examinations; benefits to be derived from township or county supervision; and the legislation necessary.
He also claimed that it lay with in the province of the public school to settle the great vexing public questions. But changes in the methods are not necessarily progress. Literature exerts a great influence on education. Purity is demanded everywhere. "Teachers, are we awake?" Innocence must be preserved and fostered. The platform of the teacher has three planks, viz: Qualification, Inspiration, and Consecration.
After music by the High School choir, meeting adjourned until 7:30.
At 7:45 in the evening the meeting was called to order by President Coultrick.
After an Organ Voluntary and an Anthem by the choir, Hon. Jno.
Eaton, President of the University at Marietta, was introduced to the audience.
The house was filled to its utmost capacity, and the address on the subject of
THE AIMS OF EDUCATION.
Was listened to with intense interest. Aside from the fact of Dr.
Eaton being the President of a University, it was also understood that he had been for seventeen years U. S. Commissioner of Public Schools; and this gave reason to expect the excellent lecture given.
In the course of his address, Dr.
Eaton spoke of the conditions of the morals of America. He compared our liberal educational aims with those of other lands. He said: The American home is a community in itself; and showed how closely the interests of the home and the school were interwoven. It was held that any person who did an act or influenced any person in any way as an educator; that the one who worked out an idea in architecture in the construction of a building of whatever kind was an educator, in short, that whoever in anyway influenced his fellow man either for good or for bad, was an educator; and it was with this comprehensive meaning that he used the term education, and he desired to be so understood.
It was then shown how that out of the church had sprung the correct idea of the home, the State, and individual action; and that our government had established the great idea: Liberty in law, law in Liberty; that the State was founded on the divine idea of personal sovereignty citizenship in the individual—a government in the hearts of men.
The speaker deplored the fact that this State so dear to us for so many reasons, was threatened by those who come here, "not to worship God according to the dictates of their consciences," but to destroy according to the dictates of their passions, and evil desires,—to destroy that very liberty they pretend to foster and love.
Attention was called to the fact that nothing stands still. Everything either progresses or retrogrades.
After pointing out the great aims of our school system, in which he said the schools must not be sectarian, he showed what was lacking in the educational field, and what was yet to be accomplished.
Here followed some statistics of interest. There are 6,000,000 persons of school age or over in the United States who can not read or write.
There are 300,000 school teachers.
It was then urged that the moral and intellectual condition of America allowed no time for slack effort, and that there must be no complacency at using National aids for the welfare of the Nation depends upon universal education.
The high schools and colleges are grand institutions a ladder on which he who will may climb to unknown heights.
In a beautiful tribute to the memory of Garfield, he whispered hope to the heart of every child; and whenever one child climbs up this ladder, the whole community lifted up and carried to a higher plane of thought and action.
The speaker said that it was a popular but mistaken idea, that most great men were not college men; and in support of this statement he said there were only one-half of one per cent. of the male population that ever graduated at colleges; (this would leave ninety-nine and one-half per cent. of the males, who never went to college.

But of the eminent men in our land is found that fifty-eight per cent. are graduates of colleges while forty-two per cent., only, have not taken a collegiate course.
Here followed quite a lengthy and pointed dissertation on the construction of school houses, selection of lots, sanitary, etc., based on his personal experience or observation.
The address was concluded with fitting remarks on moral education; in which it was shown how the intellectual, the moral and the physical, must all be trained together, and wrought one within the other, to secure the symmetry of education necessary to the perfect man.
The session on Saturday morning was opened with a paper on PRACTICAL EDUCATION.
Delivered by Miss Ella Moore, Principal of the Nelsonville High Schools. The paper showed a surprising knowledge of the subject in hand, and was so full, that in the discussion of it by the society, nothing but complimentary references could be made to it.
The paper by Miss Moore was followed by a paper on INTELLIGENT CITIZENSHIP.
By Dr. Super. As the subject discussed in this paper reached out to the remotest interest of all, even out of the school.
It will be given in full next week.
After a paper on
NATURAL METHODS IN TEACHING.
By Lillian E. Michael, of Athens, in which it was shown that true education is the development of the mind according to natural laws. Adjournment was made until 1:30.
The afternoon session was begun by Supt. Allison of Gallipolis, reading a paper on PUNISHMENTS.
He said that as long as man is in the world, there must be punishment; that too often we are cruel by being kind.
Punishment is necessary to secure individual rights. The school ar must do right because it is right, and not do wrong because of the evil in it. Punishment must be used with deliberation, and never for revenge. The body is inflicted that the mind may be bettered.
A punishment that destroys pu-pil's love for the teacher or the study is the wrong kind. It is generally wrong to punish by study, and punishment for neglect of study is generally wrong.
Kindness, patience, sympathy, love, should pertain to discipline.
Punishment must be given in severity, but the manner of giving it must be right. You must govern your school at all hazards.
Private wrongs should be settled in private, and public wrongs in public.
If evil is in the heart of a child, the teacher must kill the effects of the evil, and implant seeds of good; teach that right is right for its own sake.
It is a false mercy that disre-gards any misdeed. Make a school a climax of happiness, but when punishment must be given make it a calamity.
After some discussion by the Society, a paper on the NATURAL SCIENCES.
By Miss Lyon, of Pomeroy, was read, and caused quite a feeling in favor of more study in this direction.
The discussion of this paper finished the labor of the Association, except the Committee report.
Following are the reports of the Committees as adopted:
COMMITTEE OF NOMINATION OF OFFICERS.
For President—Prof. J. M. Davia, of Rio Grande.
For Vice Presidents—Joseph Rea McArthur; H. W. Maxon, Gallipolis; W. S. Fresner, Logan For Secretary—Miss Kate Boyd, Athens.
Executive Committee—W. H. Davia, Middletown; L. D. Bone-brake, Athens; F. S. Coultrick, Nelsonville.
Committee—Miss Maggie Boyd,
Miss Shout, Miss M. E. Lyon, N. V.
James.
This ticket was elected.
The Committee on Resolutions presented the following, which was adopted:
Resolved, That we express our sincere and hearty thanks to the contributors of the various papers.
The hints and thoughts suggested are such as can be interwoven into our school work so that we may not have so many tangled ends over which to sit and grieve and wonder.
Resolved, That the musicians are well worthy of many thanks for their offerings. Also the officers of this church for the use of their building in which to hold their services.
Resolved, That the officers of the Association deserve consideration for obtaining reduced rates upon the railroads. Last of all, but not least, come the good people of Logan, who have killed the fatted turkey and placed the candle upon the little table by the bed side that we might go in and partake of their generous hospitality.
The welcome has been cordial, and highly appreciated.
H. U. MAXON.
C. O. CLARK.
After some important discussion the meeting was prorogued by the President.
It is probable that the Associa-

D. R. Locke, Petroleum V. Nasby, editor of the Toledo Blade, writes: "I had on a forefinger of my right hand one of those pleasant pets, a run-round. The ginger became inflamed to a degree unbearable and swollen to nearly twice its natural size. A friend gave me HENRY'S CARBOLIC SALVE, and in twenty minutes the pain had so much subsided as to give me a fair night's rest, which I had not had before for a week. The inflammation left the finger in a day. I consider it a most valuable article." 4w
